It is so important to plan and prepare for when the situation changes and when we can enjoy the state of our lives again. I believe Monica is very aware of these contributing issues that affect our business. She will ensure that Ray Nolan Roofing is ready and there when we are needed.”

When asked what she likes most about being part of the family company, Monica says, “My understanding of the financials helped me to quickly take the basis for the business and manage it. I enjoy working with our clients, with the field crews and especially with my family – all who have shaped my life and learning.”

Monica eagerly looks forward to the coming years as an executive at Ray Nolan Roofing and her planning for this family company leadership in the industry and marketplace.

Monica was married in 2019 and welcomed her first child (a daughter) who was born in December 2020. Monica is an avid marathoner, enjoys hiking, and traveling to different National Parks.

ABOUT RAY NOLAN ROOFING – A Family Endeavor from the beginning

The Ray Nolan Roofing Company (RNR) was founded on June 1, 1957 by Raymond E. Nolan. Ray Nolan graduated Cum Laude from Notre Dame with a Bachelors of Science in Commerce. Upon graduation, Ray Nolan launched the Company and shortly thereafter brought his bother-in-law, John Patrick Murphy, onboard as Vice-President.

Initially the Company specialized in hot applied built-up roofing on new construction. As the Ray Nolan Roofing Co. evolved, it kept pace with the technological innovations. Over time, the Company began to add additional market-driven services.

The Ray Nolan Roofing Co. made a bold move in the roofing industry and brought on board Patrick D. Murphy, a Registered Architect and son of John Patrick Murphy, in 1982 and added a second Registered Architect in 2005. RNR is the only roofing company in the state of Kentucky (and most other states) to offer quality control and design options through in-house Registered Architects. Our Architects are also certified Green Roof Professionals through Green Roofs for Healthy Cities.

The Company expanded its Residential Division for slate, tile, and shingle roof systems to include a 24/7 emergency service repair crew and a sheet metal shop.

Raymond E. Nolan was one of the original founders of the Kentucky Roofing Contractors Association in 1964. Patrick D. Murphy, AIA, RNR current Company President, has previously served three terms president of the KRCA. In addition, three other Ray Nolan Roofing Co. staff members have served as past President as well.

The RNR experienced team offers services in all aspects of the roof construction industry. We offer our customers a wide range of solutions in both residential and commercial construction. The Ray Nolan Roofing Co. is very proud of its well-earned history of recognition. The entire staff stands ready to serve new and existing customers.
